Printing

in some form or other, constitutes an important part of every progressive business.

To be worth while, and to do credit to the business concerned, it must be Good Printing. . . . . .

Good Printing costs relatively little more than the inferior article, but how vast the difference in appearance and how much greater the appeal to the reader. . . . . .

Why not call, 'phone, or write us about that piece of Printing you are thinking of having done. .

'Phone number one-o-eight will find us. . . . . .

NIAGARA BRIDGE COLLAPSES UNDER ICE PRESSURE

HUNTING THE FOX

How many hunting-men know why they wear a scarlet coat? They might say it was in compliment to the Master; actually they wear it in loyalty to the King. Scarlet is the colour of the livery of the King. At one time no man might hunt, even on his own estate, without a licence from the Crown. He hunted at the King's pleasure, taking part in a royal sport by royal permission. While hunting he was a servant of the King, and, like other royal servants, wore the scarlet livery of the Crown.

When the Royal Buckhounds were in existence the followers wore scarlet, but the master wore green; they were the servants, but he was the representative of the Sovereign.

With the Old Berkeley both the huntsmen and whippers-in wear yellow coats, which have their origin in the tawny-orange liveries of the house of Fitzhardinge, Lords of Berkeley, who at some time obtained or assumed leave to substitute its livery for that of the King.

The blue and buff coats of the Duke of Beaufort's Hunt are explained by the fact that the pack was staghounds until the fifth duke tried for a fox in Silk Wood on his way home from stag-hunting. Sportsmen have special terms for all that concerns the fox. The female is the "vixen," the young the "cubs," his head a "mask" or "pate," his feet are "pads," and his tail a "brush."

GARDENING.

JANUARY.

Protect plants from frost by a covering of straw. When weather is suitable sow radish, spinach, and parsley. Beans and early peas may be sown in warm situations. Persevere in the destruction of weeds and vermin. Cover with hoops and mats hyacinths in beds and borders. Dig and trench.

FEBRUARY.

Plant cuttings of gooseberries, currants and raspberries. Earth up winter greens. Sow early beans. Prune roses. Sow early carrots, turnips, and onions in light soil. Plant strawberries at end of month. Commence sowing of annuals. This is the month for propagating dahlias. Autumn-sown annuals may be transplanted.

NIAGARA FALLS BRIDGE

The "ice jam" on the Niagara River was worse in Janaury, 1938, than it had been since 1909, and a strenuous fight was waged to save the first bridge below the Falls from the pressure of floes flung over precipices 165 feet deep to batter at its piers. The struggle failed, and the bridge collapsed. There was an awful roar as the span fell into the chasm, where it lay like a twisted skeleton on the ice-floes. The bridge will be missed, for ever since its erection in 1897 its thousand-foot span, linking the United States and Canada, has been the viewpoint for millions of visitors.

THE QUEEN

Her Majesty the Queen, whose portrait is given on our front page, was Lady Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, of the Scottish family of Strathmore, which goes back to the fourteenth century, and has played a considerable part in the history of this country. Her ancestral home is Glamis Castle, in Forfarshire, the majestic proportions of which make the story quite creditable that when Prince Charles Edward slept there in 1715, eighty beds were made up for his followers. The marriage of the Lady Elizabeth with the Duke of York (King George VI) took place in 1923, and both as Duchess of York and as Queen Elizabeth her Majesty has won the hearts of the people to an exceptional degree.

HITLER'S TRIUMPHAL ENTRY INTO VIENNA

STALKING THE DEER

The requisites of a Scottish deer-forest are a wide extent of quiet ground, high mountain tops and corries, and plenty of moorland and pasture. In some cases, as in that of Mar and Blackmount, the forest runs to many thousands of acres, but, whether large or small, there must be a sanctuary in each. In 1812 there were only five forests in Scotland; but so rapidly did the sport of deer-stalking increase during the nineteenth century that by 1905 the number of forests was 130. The statement is sometimes made that the Highland crofters were driven out of their lands in order that they might be utilised by the rich folk who wished to indulge in the sport of deer-stalking, but it was sheep-farming—and not in the first place afforestation for sport—that gave rise to this movement, and it should be added that the decay of sheep-farming has, in turn, facilitated the extension of the forests. Every year one sees an exodus to Scotland of those interested in deer-stalking as a sport. In both England and Scotland the King's nobles and the Church originally held special forest jurisdiction of the most oppressive kind. Thus, in Scotland the forester might have to forfeit cattle and other goods found within the forest. In England the Norman lawyers pretended that all game belonged to the King. A chase was an open forest, not subject to special forest law; a park was an enclosed chase on the owner's land.

GARDENING.

MARCH.

The main crops of asparagus, cabbages, carrots, parsnips, parsley, onions, kidney beans, etc., may be sown this month in open borders. Trees should be pruned and flowers protected. Sow turnips and savoys at the beginning and again at the end of the month. Sow hollyhock, honeysuckle, etc.

APRIL.

Continue to sow asparagus, carrots and onions. Sow seakale, beet and broccoli towards the end of the month. Stake up peas, plant potatoes, hoe and thin spinach, onions, turnips, etc. Sow main or successive crops of all kinds. Make up beds for cucumbers and vegetable marrows. Sow more peas and broad beans.

HITLER ENTERS VIENNA

Under threat of an armed invasion Herr Hitler forced Dr. Schuschnigg, the Austrian Chancellor, to abandon the plebiscite which was to determine whether Austria should become part of the German Reich. German troops were assembled on the Austrian frontier ready to help in "restoring order," and shortly afterwards, with 400 warplanes overhead, and tanks preceding him, Herr Hitler made a triumphal entry into Braunau, where he was born, and afterwards into Vienna, where he had a tumultuous reception from thousands of people who had decided, under the threat of armed compulsion, that it was better to live under the German Reich than under the Austrian Republic.

LONG LIFE

The odds against a man in Australia living to the age of 100 are a little more than 2,000 to 1. This is twice as great as the chances of reaching that age were in 1890, when the first Commonwealth age records were made. Women's chances of becoming centenarians have not improved so much as men's have, but their chances of reaching 100 are still less than 1,500 to 1 against.

There is no scientific evidence to support the belief that the length of human life was once much greater than it is in modern times; but we know for certain that in civilised countries the average length of life has been increasing for many centuries.

THE KING OPENS THE EMPIRE EXHIBITION

HUNTING THE TIGER

The tiger belongs to the same genus as the lion and leopard, the lynx and the cat, but it is most nearly related to the lion, which in many cases it may exceed in length. Instances are known of tigers over 10 ft. long, including the tail, and weighing 500 lbs. The tiger feeds on cattle, deer, and wild hogs, and some old "man-eaters" haunt the neighbourhood of villages on the lookout for human prey. But it is as cowardly as it is cunning, fleeing before an armed man, between whom and a possible victim it discriminates with wonderful sagacity. In some parts of the East tigers are numerous enough to endanger human life very seriously, and the case has been known of the whole village having to be removed because of this peril. In these conditions, tiger hunting can be regarded as a "most noble sport," but in spite of that and Government rewards for every animal killed, the tiger is an all-too-prevailing menace in many parts of India. Young tigers are said to glut their taste for blood far beyond the limits of hunger, and the same is true of the mother while the young are still her companions. A tiger will in ordinary circumstances kill one or two buffaloes a week, refraining from fresh attacks until it has consumed the results of one night's work. The method of attack is to break the vertebræ of the victim's neck.

GARDENING.

MAY.

Prune fruit trees, and remove all superfluous shoots and blossoms. Prune and water strawberries while in flower. Sow small salad herbs weekly; radishes, lettuces, and spinach once a fortnight. Sow peas and beans for late crops. Propagate by cuttings, dahlias, pansies, double wall-flowers. Scarlet geraniums should be shifted freely to encourage growth.

JUNE.

Sow principal crop of turnips. Plant out brussels sprouts and savoys. Dry and lay up bulbs. Propagate wall-flowers, sweet-williams, etc. Pull and store winter onions, if ripe. Train and prune all kinds of wall and trellis trees, and put netting over cherry trees.

EMPIRE EXHIBITION

The Empire Exhibition at Glasgow, which was opened with State pageantry by the King and Queen, was the greatest held anywhere in the world since Wembley in 1924—25. It was built by Great Britain, the Dominions, and the Colonies at the cost of £10,000,000, on an area of 175 acres. By day and night the exhibition was a noble spectacle, with its 300 ft. steel tower streamlined and pencil-thin, rising from the crest of the hill. Its observation galleries took 600 people at a time. From this position you looked down on to the sections representing the countries of the Empire.

WONDER CLOCK

A local clockmaker has, after serious difficulties, succeeded in putting in order the "wonder clock" of Weimar. This timepiece was built in 1704 for Duke William Ernest of Weimar by Johannes Asmann. Not only did it tell the time of day, it recorded the Duke's age from time to time and also the position of the sun and moon in the heavens. On each day of the week a different picture of some Biblical subject appeared to remind the Duke of his pious duties. For 150 years the clock went perfectly. Then its mechanism failed, probably owing to the strain of being adjusted every few years to tell the ages of successive Dukes in turn.

THE SIGNING OF THE ANGLO-IRISH AGREEMENT

WHY DO LIONS ROAR?

Why does the lion roar when pursuing its prey, but not when it is being pursued by the keen hunter? The roar has its uses. When hunting in companies, as they sometimes do, some lions will lie down quietly while the others go and roar to drive the game towards them. At other times they may roar to bewilder the game. Thus sometimes one, or several, will roar on three sides of the game, and then stalk it from the fourth. Again, when within a few bounds of the prey the lion will spring on it with a loud roar, which may have the effect of terrifying the beast, and so causing a momentary pause of which the lion obtains the advantage. But the lion has many roars, and they do not all appear to be terrifying. It is noted that the game on the plains sometimes pay little attention to the lion's roar. Nor do wild animals trouble to run from a full-fed lion. On a still night the roar can be heard four or five miles off, and at close quarters seems to shake the ground. The lion also often takes his prey by pursuing it, and with great perseverance The animal singled out for pursuit, as a zebra, may be swifter of foot than the lion, but greater power of endurance enables him to make it his victim and bring it to the ground. Antelopes and deer are the most common food of lions.

GARDENING.

JULY.

Attend to insects and useless growths this month. Stake peas and scarlet runners. Thin gooseberry and raspberry bushes, plums, and stone fruit generally. Make new plantations of strawberries. In the last week sow yellow turnips for a full winter crop, and spinach for an early winter supply. Gather and dry all kinds of herbs for seasoning, etc.

AUGUST.

Gather and store ripe fruit. Clear away decayed annuals, and sow some of the hardy kinds. Biennials that are large enough should be planted. Sow winter and spring spinach. Sow parsley, winter onions, cabbages and greens. Sow endive early.

THE ANGLO-IRISH AGREEMENT

In the Cabinet Room at No. 10, Downing Street, an Agreement was signed by British and Irish Ministers which, it was hoped, would put an end to the problems of trade, finance and defence that have beset the two countries for many years. The Agreement provides that the harbours of Cobh, Berehaven and Lough Swilly are transferred to the Government of Eire; that an Irish payment of £10,000,000 be made to settle outstanding financial claims, subject to a continuance of the annual payments of £250,000 by the Free State in respect of property damaged during the "troubles;" and that a trade treaty, embodying a thorough revision of Customs duties, be established.

800 M.P.H. FLY

The world's fastest living creature is to be studied by aircraft designers in America in the hope that Nature will give them some new ideas for building speed machines. The object of their studies is a fly that resembles a honey bee. Its name is cephenemyia, and in flight it can be seen only for an instant. Its habitat is Brazil. Cephenemyia is only half an inch in length, and scientists estimate that it has a speed of 800 miles an hour. The fly is blunt nosed and the body tapers slightly, and the head is rounded, not unlike the nose of the most modern speed 'plane.

QUEEN MARY'S VISIT TO THE TOWER

THE COMMON BROWN BEAR

The common brown bear, which inhabits Europe and Asia, is regarded by some as identical with the black bear of North America. It used to be found in Britain, but it seems to have been exterminated in Scotland about the end of the eleventh century. The brown bear eats all kinds of things—roots, berries, vegetables, ants, honey, or fish—and when these fail, other quadrupeds, both large and small. When hunger prompts them to attack large quadrupeds, their usual method is to hug their prey to death in their powerful arms. When the bears appear after their long winter sleep they are thin and weak and not unnaturally voracious. Bears are hunted for the sake of their skins, which are greatly valued, especially in countries like Russia; their fat is a well-known unguent, while the flesh of their paws is considered a great delicacy. Their senses of smell and hearing are very acute, which render them most difficult to hunt and track down, as many a bear-hunter has found to his cost. Bear-baiting was a popular sport in many countries, and prevailed to a late date in England. Even in the time of Queen Elizabeth it was a recognised fashionable amusement to go to the bear-gardens and see the victims worried by dogs. On one occasion in ancient Rome as many as a thousand bears were exhibited.

GARDENING

SEPTEMBER.

Take up carrots that are to be stored, ripe potatoes, and beet-roots. Sow winter spinach. Make new rhubarb beds. Prune fruit trees that have done bearing. Sow salads for late crops. Gather and store carefully the autumnal sorts of apples and pears. Propagate herbaceous plants.

OCTOBER.

Earth up savoys and cabbages as high as the leaves Crop the tops of parsley to make fresh leaves for winter. Prune honeysuckle, roses, and other flowering shrubs. Protect dahlias and young carnations from frost, and towards the close of the month begin planting tulips, ranunculuses, and anemones. Guard against frost.

QUEEN MARY AT THE TOWER

Queen Mary made history last July when she went in a launch down the Thames to the Queen's stairs at the Tower. The occasion was a garden party in aid of the Tower Hill Improvement Fund. Her Majesty was the first woman member of the Royal Family to enter the Tower by that Gate for nearly 400 years. At the threshold of the Tower, which is a Royal Palace, she was received by the Constable and conducted to the principal buildings, including the Chapel of St. Peter ad Vincula, where so many famous victims of Tower justice lie buried.

GERMS ON MONEY

On every penny there are between two and three thousand live germs, according to a Czecho-Slovak scientist, Dr. Pavel Kohn. He counted the number of germs on banknotes and on coins in general use. Silver, he finds, is bad for germs. They flourish better on nickel, and best of all on copper or bronze. The size of the coin makes no difference in the density of its microbe population. Most of the bacteria on coins, he says, are quite harmless. In contrast, those on banknotes are twice or three times as numerous, and a good many of them are capable of producing diseases, and do so at a rate that must be highly dangerous to men and women who handle the money.

VISIT OF THE KING AND QUEEN TO PARIS

CHASING THE TARPON

To meet with the tarpon alive one would have to cross the Atlantic to the south-east coasts of North America and follow southwards to the West Indies and Brazil. The favourite haunt of the tarpon is off the coast of Florida, though it has been known to ascend rivers in search of mullet, its favourite food. Very remarkable are the jumping feats of the tarpon, especially when it is remembered that the fish is about 7 feet long and exceeds 200 lbs. in weight, a considerable pull on rod and line. The tarpon leaps 6 feet or more in the air and drops to the water again with a resounding splash, the body bent like a bow, and the gill covers wide open, revealing the crimson gills. After the downward plunge he races on till checked by the line, and then the leaps and the rushes continue, for perhaps an hour or more, until the fish is exhausted and may be drawn to the side of the boat and gaffed. At one time only the scales, measuring 4 inches across, were taken, chiefly as curiosities, which found a ready sale in the American curiosity shops, while the rest of the body was given over to the vultures or used as manure for the orange trees. Improved methods of cooking, however, seem to have changed all this, earning for the once despised victim a more respectable end, since the tarpon is now said to be excellent eating.

GARDENING.

NOVEMBER.

Sow early peas and beans in a warm border. Force seakale, asparagus, and rhubarb. Prune and plant bushes and fruit trees. Shelter choice flowers. Protect endive, celery, artichokes, etc., with stable litter or ferns. Mulch asparagus with hot-bed manure. Plant dried tubers of border flowers.

DECEMBER.

Dig, manure and trench vacant ground. Protect any plants that are likely to be injured by frost, either in frames or in the open ground. Sow a few beans and peas as in November. Very few operations can be carried on this month with the exception of digging and trenching.

THE KING'S VISIT TO PARIS

The King and Queen were received with rapturous enthusiasm on their four-days' visit to Paris last July—with cheering crowds wherever they went, with a banquet at the Elysee and a reception at the Hotel de Ville. While the Queen visited a hospital one morning, the King took the salute at a review of 50,000 French soldiers at Versailles, and afterwards, in the famous Hall of Mirrors, where the Treaty of Versailles was signed, there was a brilliant luncheon party. On their way home His Majesty unveiled the Memorial at Villers-Bretonneaux to the Australians who had died in the Great War.

ENGLISH SLAVES

It was in 1547, in the reign of Edward VI., that a statute was made that a runagate servant or anyone that was idle three days be brought before two justices of the peace and marked "V" vagabond, with a hot iron on the breast and adjudged the slave of him who bought him for two years. He was to take the slave and give him bread, water, or small drink, and refuse meat, and cause him to work by beating, chaining, or otherwise, and if he absented himself fourteen days he was to be marked on the forehead or cheek by a hot iron with an "S" and be his master's slave for ever. A year's desertion was felony, and punishable by death—and we talk of the "good old days."

HINTS ON HEALTH FOR EVERY HOME.

AN EMERGENCY REMEDY

BLEEDING from a cut finger or hand can be stopped almost at once by the application of a little lemon juice. Damp a clean piece of lint or any soft material with the juice and apply it at once to the cut, pressing it on firmly.

FEET KEPT COMFORTABLE

PEDICURE must be performed with the correct implements if the feet are to be kept comfortable and healthy. This has been made a simple matter by a firm of specialists in "foot health," who now put up a compact set of instruments in a flat, soft, coloured leather case, measuring only a few inches

ROUGHNESS AND TAN

WHEN the skin has become rough and tanned from sun and winds, try this simple lotion : Take two tablespoonfuls of oatmeal, adding a quart of water and boil for ten minutes. Cool and strain and to the liquid add the juice of one lemon and a dessertspoonful of alcohol. Wash the face in this, or rather apply it with a soft cloth, not wiping it all away.

CARROTS AS A BEAUTY CURE

A RAW carrot, finely grated, is said to perform wonders in clearing the skin. A tablespoonful of the grated carrot should be taken every morning before breakfast. The carrot cure is also said to have wonderful effects on the hair. In different parts of the country abroad, where carrots take an important place in the cottager's menu, the hair of the women is exquisitely bright and silky, and always has the appearance of being well groomed.

AN EXCELLENT FOOT BATH

FOR tired feet, a hot foot bath every night, with the addition of a little salt and a tablespoonful of bay rum or a few drops of ammonia, will often give ease. Another preparation is a mixture of carbolic acid, camphor, and ammonia ; four ounces of carbolic acid to one each of the ammonia and camphor. Stir into the footbath in the proportion of one large spoonful of this liquid to every two quarts of hot water. In the very warm weather sprinkle a little boracic powder in your socks.

HOW TO BE WELCOME IN A SICK ROOM

IN a sick room, open the door promptly without rattling the handle. Walk in quietly, but do not take ostentatious care to glide in absolute silence. Don't pause and murmur inquiries to the nurse, but go straight to the bed and speak in a clearly audible every-day tone to the patient. Choose topics of interest that will entertain without being exciting, leaving a few new ideas with your invalid as food for pleasant reflection after your leave-taking, and making only a passing reference to the present malady. Look as fresh and pretty as the power in you lies, and thereby act as an unconscious tonic to your friend. Avoid any article of dress that jingles or rustles. Having risen to say good-bye, go instantly without lingering over last words.

HEART EXERCISES

HEART exercises are beneficial in keeping that organ strong and healthy. Walking with a brisk step and rhythm for a couple of miles each day ; skipping or jumping for a few minutes each morning; and regulated deep breathing are all good.

A COLD IN THE EYE

To treat a cold in the eye, bathe with warm boric lotion and rest the sight as much as possible until all traces of the trouble have disappeared. The lotion should be applied by means of an eyebath two or three times daily. Sponging the closed eyes with weak lukewarm tea is also beneficial.

CURING A STIFF NECK

STIFF-NECK often occurs as a result of women and children allowing freshly-washed hair to hang loose without protecting shoulders and neck against the damp therefrom. A protector is now available, made either from white Turkish towelling or thin coloured rubber, made to fasten well up round the neck and, in the case of the former variety, to cover the entire back almost to the waist.

INSTEAD OF HOT-WATER BOTTLES

HOT sandbags are more pleasant than hot-water bottles, besides having the advantage of being easily moved and tucked in wherever there is local pain. They are quite simple and inexpensive to make. Take a flannel bag about eight or ten inches square, and fill with dry sand. Sew it up, and place over it a calico cover, to retain the heat, and prevent the sand from sifting out. Next place the bag in a slow oven, let it heat through, and apply at once.

CAMOMILE TEA

CAMOMILE tea is not only restful for the nerves, but clears and beautifies the complexion. A cup should be taken just before bed-time by the woman who feels that her skin is not as clear and fresh-looking as it should be. To make it put four or five dried camomile flowers into a teapot. Pour over them half a pint of boiling water and allow to stand for five minutes. Pour off, sweeten to taste, and drink while hot. This is a most beneficial evening drink in summer.

RELIEF OF TIRED EYES

WHEN your eyes are tired, try bathing them at night-time in a little warm water to which a pinch of boracic powder has been added. Use an eye-cup for the purpose. It is very pleasant to read on the beach when on your holidays, but on a very hot, glaring day do not read too long. It is a good plan to lie down in a darkened room for about twenty minutes every day during the holidays; this rests the eyes splendidly. In choosing your rooms, if you have weak eyes, be careful that they have not too sunny an aspect and try, if possible, to get a bedroom with green blinds. White blinds only increase the morning glare, and if the sun beats down fiercely on your face from early sunrise, not only will your rest be disturbed, but your eyes will suffer as well.

HOW TO KEEP YOUR SAVINGS SAFE

Whether a man be rich or poor, the fear of to-morrow often looms in his mind. The poor man fears poverty, while the rich man fears the loss of that which he has. To banish fear of the future the wise man invests his savings in Whole Life or Endowment Assurance. His capital is safe, and whatever happens there is a nest egg in store against a rainy day. The "Caledonian"—Scotland's oldest Insurance Company—has safeguarded the savings of its Policy-Holders for over One Hundred Years.
